

waving flags and cheering as the parade passed. The scene at this point will be a striking one indeed, and every effort is being made to render this part of the day's program a great success.

Mr. F. C. Ebel, chief marshal of the children, made the following statement of "what the President's visit to Richmond means to the children and what their part means to the occasion":

The school children of Richmond, 12,000 to 15,000 in number, will take formal part in the reception of President Roosevelt on Wednesday next, the occasion of his visit to this city. To most of them this is the first opportunity they have had to see a chief magistrate of our country. Their visit to the President, Hayes and President Cleveland was too long ago to be more than a tradition to the children of to-day. For this occasion each child will be furnished with a United States flag, the emblem of our country. On Wednesday morning the children will assemble at the designated rendezvous and take their places along the line of the procession. Every precaution has been taken to insure their safety. They will form a column four abreast on both sides of Broad Street, with a provided space extending from Ninth Street to Adams Street. No feature of the parade will, we feel sure, be more attractive or contribute more to the interest of the occasion than these long lines of joyful children. They will have a good view of the President and will greet him as he passes with cheer and the waving of flags. They will greet him as the chosen ruler of our common country. Their hearts will glow with enthusiasm at being called upon to take part in so important a public function that will have its place in the histories of the future. Their national pride and their patriotism will be stimulated, and they will hail the "Stars and Stripes" as the symbol of the greatness, the civilization, the progress of our land, and of freedom regulated by law. In the years to come they will delight to recall their part in this great occasion and to keep it fresh in memory. To our visitors it must be a most inspiring sight to pass between these long lines of bright and happy children, dressed in holiday attire, waving flags and showing in every word and act their joy in the occasion and their desire to pay homage to the impersonation of the nation's dignity and honor. We can imagine him looking forward with assured confidence to the future of our country when the very children manifest so emphatically their loyalty and devotion to its institutions and its representatives.

FERDINAND C. EBEL.

The Decorations.

The decoration of the city is progressing rapidly. Main Street yesterday, leading east from Seventh, was a mass of brilliant color. Some of the buildings are gorgeously arrayed with the Stars and Stripes, waving majestically from many flagpoles. The appearance of the high, narrow American National Bank Building attracted much attention.

The sub-committee of advertising appointed by the Citizens' Committee for entertaining the President, request all manufacturers and proprietors of establishments of other establishments having steam whistles or bells connected with their plants to have each whistle ring at a clock noon as a salute to the presidential party when entering Richmond. The superintendents of the railroad companies have been instructed to do likewise. The appearance of the high, narrow American National Bank Building attracted much attention.

COLONEL L. S. BROWN.

renger agent of the Georgia and Pacific Railway, with headquarters at Atlanta. In 1885 he was transferred to Washington and made general agent of the Southern Railway. His duties here are many and varied. It is safe to say that no railroad man in the country has more friends in public life than Colonel Brown. He has held his present position constantly since 1885.

Colonel Brown is a native of Newton County, Ga. He saw service in the Confederate army, the accompanying civil war, and he was the best looking man in the world. He isn't.

PRESIDENT TO MAKE TWO SPEECHES AT JACKSONVILLE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) JACKSONVILLE, FLA., October 15.—In addition to the address which he will deliver before the citizens of Jacksonville, President Roosevelt will stop on his drive around the city and deliver an address to the negroes at the Florida Colored Baptist Academy. Secretary Loebe has notified the committee of arrangements to this effect. Some of the prominent negro citizens succeeded in inducing the President to make this addition to the original plans for this visit.

FLUSHING MACHINE.

Modern Street Cleaner That Supt. Cohn Will Exhibit.

Chairman Julius A. Hobeon, of the Health Commission of the Council, has called a meeting of his committee for 8 o'clock to-night. The chairman also wants the members of the committee and as many other citizens as choose so to do to meet him at the corner of Ninth and Canal Streets at 4 o'clock to-morrow afternoon to witness a very interesting experiment.

A street flushing machine that has been used most successfully in keeping clean the streets of New York, Washington and other cities will be placed on exhibition at that time and place.

Superintendent Cohn, of the street cleaning department, who is ever upon the alert for anything that will help him to keep Richmond clean, has induced President George N. Skinner, of the Standard Street Flushing Company, to bring one of his flushing machines to Richmond for exhibition. President Skinner was in the city yesterday, and intended to remain here until to-day, but he is informed by Superintendent Cohn that Mr. Roosevelt was expected here this week, and he has hurried back to Norfolk to get a second flushing machine here by to-morrow, so that Superintendent Cohn can get the streets of Richmond as clean as a pin by the time President Roosevelt gets here. The machine already here will be on exhibition at the corner of Ninth and Canal Streets this afternoon, and show what it can do. Mr. Cohn will leave nothing undone to have the streets spotless during the President's visit.

PRESIDENT TO AID JAMESTOWN

Will Do All Possible Towards Securing Big Sum From Congress.

URGE IT IN HIS MESSAGE

He Will, However, Have Cannon and Economical Legislature Against Him.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 15.—President Roosevelt has assured Harry St. George Tucker, the new president of the Jamestown Exposition Company, that he will do everything in his power during the coming session of Congress to have a good-sized appropriation made for the exposition proposed for Jamestown, Va., in 1907.

The President promised Mr. Tucker that he would mention the matter in his message to Congress and that he would do anything else in his power through the winter. It is known that the President, however, has taken a great interest in the exposition. Last winter he urged an appropriation such as the promoters of the exposition desired.

Outlook Brighter

Since Congress, last session, gave a small amount to the undertaking, its friends have been despondent over the outlook. Now comes their first ray of hope. The President's promise buoy them up considerably.

It is not, however, taken to mean that the big appropriation can be regarded as a foregone conclusion. It is remembered that the President will have his hands full in persuading Congress to do more than make good on its promise of an appropriation for an exposition, and it is also known that the possible conflict between Congress and the Executive may make his recommendation of little avail.

Far From Confident.

Another obstacle in the way will be the saving policy which the legislators will follow this winter. Altogether, therefore, the friends of the exposition, while appreciating the President's help, do not take an entirely rosy view of the situation.

The bill asking for the appropriation, which will be put at several millions of dollars, will be introduced near the beginning of the session, and from then until the close of the congressional year the fight, led by Representative Maynard, of the Jamestown district, will be waged hot and heavy.

Cannon in Way.

Speaker Cannon last year sat down on the idea of giving a big appropriation for the exposition, and it is known that during the coming session he will be more economic than ever. On the one hand is the desire of the President that the appropriation be granted, and on the other is the Speaker's determination to keep all appropriations down.

The promoters of the exposition will not be surprised if they have to be content with a mere pittance from the national treasury.

RED FLAGS ARE WAVED DEFIANTLY

The crowd took refuge in the university buildings, and the meeting was continued there without being disturbed by the police.

During the annual school festival of the fifth gymnasium to-day, members in the audience began to throw red flags. A panic ensued. Many persons were bruised in the rush, but no one was seriously injured.

Treaty Ratification.

The ratification of the treaty of peace is formally announced this morning in the official messenger, which says that its operation has begun yesterday. The text of the treaty is not given.

As a full mark of appreciation of the part he took in bringing about the conference at Portsmouth, the President, President Roosevelt was the first person to be notified by the Russian government that the Emperor Nicholas had signed the treaty. The Russian ambassador in St. Petersburg, the emperor's signature had been affixed to the instrument and before the treaty had been brought back from Petersburg for the counter-signature of Foreign Minister Lamsdorf, the news was sent directly to the President. Official notification by the government, according to the Foreign Office, followed several hours later, when Count Lamsdorf had completed the ratification by his signature.

The government took no steps to make known to the people of Russia the fact that the Emperor had signed the treaty. The fact that the treaty had been signed by the Emperor was known to the public through the press dispatches from Washington.

As soon as the treaty had been fully ratified, the Russian government notified the fact to the War, Navy and other ministries, and the necessary orders were immediately issued to bring home some of the ships interned in neutral harbors.

The date for the exchange of prisoners of war has not yet been fixed. The Russian government is now at Moscow, and is expected to arrive in Tokyo to-day. The exchange of prisoners will be made at Medved to-day several thousand roubles which had been received from Japan for the Japanese prisoners there.

FUNERAL OF TROITSKY

IS DISTURBED BY A SHOT

(By Associated Press.) ST. PETERSBURG, October 15.—The body of the late Prince Troitsky was conveyed to the Nikolaevskaya church for removal to Moscow. A vast multitude and deputations of students followed the cortege. When the procession was nearing the station a squadron of gentlemen appeared, and at almost the same moment a revolver shot rang out from the crowd, causing a panic. The gentlemen drew their swords and charged and dispersed the crowd, mourners and spectators leaving quietly in all directions. The gentlemen did not use their swords, and as far as can be ascertained, no one was injured.

Among the wreaths laid on the coffin of the dead reformer was one of natural arches from Emperor Nicholas.

DATES OF LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION HAVE CLOSED

(By Associated Press.) PORTLAND, ORE., Oct. 15.—When the gates of the Lewis and Clark Exposition closed at 1 o'clock this morning, a total attendance of 86,992 for the last day of the exposition was recorded. The grand total attendance for the entire fair period 2,545,590 admissions. The number of the fair had been registered, making a point of numbers, Portland Day and Fourth of July being the only greater days.

HEAVY FIRING BY DEMOCRATS TO-DAY

Daniel, Martin, Montague and Other Prominent Leaders.

STATE TO BE WELL COVERED

Flood in Amherst and Judge Mann in for South-west.

Democratic politics will be quiet in Richmond to-day, but the big leaders will be active out in the State.

Nearly all the important points where courts will meet will be covered by prominent speakers and then there will be a lull of a few days, when activities will resume.

Congressman Swanson and Glass will be at Harrisonburg to-day, and Governor Montague will speak at Luray.

Senator Daniel will appear at Greene Court and Senator Martin and Congressman Flood will address the voters of Amherst. Attorney General Anderson speaks at Boydon and Judge Wm. Judges Mann at Marion, in Smyth county.

There are a great many other appointments in the State, and the Republicans are expected to have representatives at most of the points where Democratic speakers have engagements.

No Quorum Expected.

It is hardly expected that the State committee will be able to get a quorum to take up the Norfolk county case on Friday night, though an adjournment was made until that time.

Even though there shall be a meeting, it is hard to see what can be accomplished. Arrangements are being made to furnish accommodations for the candidates, and the intentions of persons to run for office in the general election expires on Wednesday, and should the results in Norfolk county be reversed, the candidates will be obliged to appear at the Academy prior to the election as Governor Montague, Senator Daniel and Hon. A. C. Braxton.

Richmond city Democrats are going to close up the campaign in a blaze of glory, and some of the most brilliant orators in the State will speak here before the battle is over. Among the likely to appear at the Academy prior to the election are Governor Montague, Senator Daniel and Hon. A. C. Braxton.

That the great annual meet of the Virginia-Carolina Fox Hunters' Association, at the Mecklenburg Hotel, near Chase City, next week, will be the largest assembly of hounds and hunters that the State of Virginia has ever known, is an assured fact.

From all over the State and from all parts of North Carolina, hunters and their packs will journey to take part in the hound trials and fox hunts, that will begin on Tuesday, the 24th, and end with the week.

Colonel Hughes, president of the association, has addressed the following letter to an officer of the association: Chase City, Va., October 12, 1905.

Dear Sir—I take pleasure in stating that the indications of the meet of the association, which takes place here on the 24th to 28th, inclusive, will be the grandest occasion of the kind ever before held. Undoubtedly there will be from 700 to 1,000 hounds, many hundred riders, and among them will be many ladies. Arrangements are being made to furnish accommodations, mounts, conveyances, etc., to every one who may attend, and at prices as reasonable as can be expected. Horses and saddles for a hundred miles have been engaged. Accommodations for every one, including horses and dogs, have been arranged. Railroad fares have been reduced from all points, same being on sale from the 21st to 23d, inclusive, and in fact we have left nothing undone which might tend to the pleasure, comfort and convenience of the participants.

There will be no trouble about foxes. We have turned loose from time to time a large number, in addition to our native foxes; therefore every one can rest assured that there will be no trouble about getting a run each morning. There will also be the contest and trial and a list of prizes, and while the M. F.
